FRIDAY EVENING NOV 25 1892. OUTLINES OF A KANSAS STORY .-They were carrying a coffin into the church of a country place.

"Who's dead?" I asked. "Romeo," said a young fellow at my elbow.

"What did he die of?"
He "Shot himself. He loved anothman's wife in a careless fashion. Her husband found them together. Rome saw him draw a pistol; drew his own the quicker, and explained that he would kill himself—didn't want any other executioner. The husband tried to help him over the river Jordan; but six of his bullets missed the mark Romeo had saved his fire and aim—not a shot gone. Looked misty like for the outraged husband. He fancied he felt the advance of death; but Romeo said: 'I won't harm you,' And then Romeo shot himself dead. There wasn't near as much talk as one hears at a stage hills. The wasn't properly screamed and killin'. The woman screamed and fainted, of course, as women do."
"Poor Juliet! What became of her?"

"She's feelin' all right 'nough now. She's sure a living man is better than a dead one. She is up at the jail this minute makin up with her husband. And this is a true story .- Kaneas City

"Only the best has ever filled its pages; the best thought rendered in the purest English. Nothing poor or unworthy has ever appeared in the columns of The Living Age."—The Presbyterion, Philadelphia, April 13, 1892.

A weekly magazine, it gives more than three and a quarter thousand double-column octave pages of reading matter yearly, forming four volumes; presenting a mass of matter unequaled in quality and quantity by any other publication in the country.

In the coming year The Living Age will continue to be the reflex of the age in which it lives.

IN THE

NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW YOU WILL ALWAYS TIND

THE RIGHT TOPICS,
BY THE NIGHT MEN,
AT THE RIGHT TIME.

BY THE NIGHT MEN.

AT THE RIGHT TIME.

The topics are always those which are uppermost in the public mind—in morals, politics, science, literature, business, finance, industrial economy, social and manicipal affairs, etc—in short, all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely from month to month the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartially on both sides.

The contributors to the Review are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of distinguished writers. The list is a roll of the people who are making the history, controlling the affairs, and leading the opinion of the age, such as Mr. Gladstone, the Prime Minister of England; Mr. Blaine; Signor Crispi, ex-Prime Minister of Italy; Baron Hirsch; H. R. H. the Count of Paris; Cardinal Gibbons; Eishops Potter, Doane, Mallalien, Foss, etc., esc. The time when these subjects are treated of by the contributors is the very time when the subjects are in the public mind—net a month or two after people have ceased to think of them. The promptness with which the Review farnishes its readers with the most authoritative information upon the topics of the day is one of its most valuable features.
